Certified Public Accountant's Report

To the Selectmen, Town of Exeter, N. H.:

Gentlemen:

During the fiscal year ending January 31, 1938, I have made periodic examinations of the accounts of the following officers: Town Clerk, Town Treasurer, Tax Collector, Highway Agent, Selectmen; and have made year-end audit of the Justice of Municipal Court, and Trustees of Trust Funds, the latter in conjunction with the Town Auditors.

During the year there has been submitted at various times detailed reports to the selectmen in regard to general financial activites and reports in regard to various officers.

The accounting system in operation is departmental, rather than centralized, as no provision is made for latter method. That is, no one officer is responsible for the keeping, or supervising of the keeping of all financial records, and preparing of all financial reports. No general ledger is maintained that incorporates all financial control accounts. This is not due to the fault of any one or more officers, as their duties do not embrace it. The Treasurer's office is the nearest to a centralized office. Thus, an annual report is an assembly of individual department reports, and in a general way presents a comprehensive history of financial transactions.

Whenever possible, without changing present procedure, I have made suggestions that have been given consideration.

At all times and with all officers with whom I have come in contact there has been full co-operation accorded to me.

Auditor's Certificate

I have made periodic examinations of the accounting records of the Town of Exeter, New Hampshire, for the fiscal year ending January 31, 1938, in regard to the various officers and activities mentioned above.

In my opinion, based upon such examinations, the accompanying schedules in regard to Balance Sheet, Town Clerk's Report, Bonded Debt and Interest, Tax Collector's Report, Appropriation Report, Statement of Budget operation, and other schedules, together with statements in Town Repor- in regard to Highway Agent, Justice of Police Court, and Trust tees of Trust Funds, fully and fairly present the financial operations for the year ending January 31, 1938, and the condition arrived at on January 31, 1938.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT M. BRUCE,

Certified Public Accountant.

February 11, 1938.

In July, Marietta Carlisle and Doris Armstrong attended the Summer Library School courses at Manchester, in session for two weeks annually under the direction of the State Library Commission. At the end of that month Miss Roys, the librarian, resigned, to be married. Marietta Carlisle became acting librarian until December 1, when Marian Goodwin was engaged to fill the vacancy.

During Book Week in November a Book House made of attracitve new book jackets was featured in the children's room, and 250 pins given to the children who took out books that week. A circulation of 83, the largest in that department for one day was recorded. A steady increase in circulation in both rooms is noticeable, the daily average being 25 more than last year, and 224 adult books borrowed, January 2, set a new high record.

A set of Compton's new pictured encyclopedia has been purchased, and is proving very useful for adults as well as the young people. The old magazines not worth binding, for which there was no longer room in the attic, have been sent to the County Farm, and some with pictures or articles of value to teachers have been given to them. The increasing number of current periodicals has necessitated moving them to the shelves in the hall by the study room door. To facilitate finding material required for High School and Seminary book reports, special shelves have been reserved for their exclusive use.

More legible, metal, self-inking daters have replaced the worn out rubber stamps and pads. A different style of request slip is being used to help eliminate confusion in filling patrons' orders as speedily as possible.

Christmas was observed in the children's room with stockings hung by the fireplace, a creche, and a snow scene depicting Santa's arrival. Miss Kent and Mrs. Day loaned a victrola and records for carols to instill a holiday atmosphere.

The installation of an oil burner provides an opportunity in the near future to move little used bound periodicals to the cellar, thereby gaining some badly needed shelving.

MARIAN GOODWIN,

Librarian.

The class of 1937 was the largest in the history of the school. However, during the past ten years classes have varied from 17 to 37.

Changes in Program

The desire for a beginning course in French in grade nine, by several newcomers and girls who needed language credit for some special purpose, prompted the introduction of such a course last fall. The plan calls for progress which will enable the group to enter a sophomore class next year. If it does not seem feasible, the class will not be offered in 1938-39.

Because of the large sophomore class, two sections were needed in Ancient and Medieval History and Biology, and three in English.

The change in the time of classes makes possible a period of 40 minutes net for all classes. From Tuesday to Friday, the last period is available for special events, assemblies, rehearsals, and special study groups.

New Equipment

The installation of new seats and curtains for the auditorium met a real need and they present a very pleasing appearance.

To provide more adequate equipment for the training in serving meals, a maple table and chairs were purchased for the Home Economics Department. New curtains and draperies for the dining room have been a project for the seniors of the department.

The Seminary is indebted to the class of 1937 for an attractive rug for the office.

Assemblies and Student Activities

Among the varied assemblies during the present school year, one should list—a recital by Miss Elva Boyden; an Armistice day address by Rev. Paul T. Martin; a play in Latin by members of the Latin classes; an illustrated lecture on India by Mr. Bhambal.

The field hockey team emerged undefeated from its annual schedule of six games, and the basketball team has won a majority of its games to date.

At the time of writing, the seniors have just presented a pleasing play, "The Sky's the Limit," directed by Miss Nancy Millett. The senior play has been a regular feature for at least ten years as the opportunity for a brief dramatic training.

The Junior Prom was next in order, Miss C. Frances Smith as adviser.

Test of Hearing

Pupils are usually shy about admitting a deficiency in sight or hearing and suffer thereby.

Through the co-operation of the State Department of Education and the untiring effort of Miss Julia McQuade, all the pupils were tested by the audiometer.

Besides informing teachers and pupils concerning any defective hearing, the test also eliminates faulty hearing in some cases as a possible cause of failure. If a pupil receives a satisfactory rating in the test, the teacher then knows that the reason for failure is possibly a lack of mental ability, a poor attitude or insufficient background for the subject.

Co-operation of Other Towns

As evidence of the co-operative attitude of towns which entrust their pupils to the Seminary, the writer wishes to mention the plan instituted by Newfields. A committee sought to aid pupils from Newfields who received warnings for unsatisfactory work by tutoring them two nights per week. Such assistance was greatly appreciated by the pupils and the faculty.

During the present school year, it has been the privilege of the Seminary faculty, through the Misses Bryant, Smith, Tufts and Waitt, and the writer, to assist in meetings of Parent-Teacher Associations at Kensington, Newfields and Stratham.

Looking Toward the Future

The writer believes that the influence of any school can be made greater by the messages from men and women who have been successful in their chosen fields. To make contact with these people possible, a fund is necessary. It is sincerely hoped that some friends of Robinson Seminary will regard such a fund as a way to assist materially and spiritually the education of the young people. A regular program of assemblies, made possible by such a fund, would be very valuable.

Conclusion

May the writer extend a standing invitation, through the medium of this report, to all interested persons, to attend the evening session to be announced later. The past occasions have proved very enjoyable and the contacts made have been valuable.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES A. PIRNIE,

Principal.
